

New Bern Parks and Recreation Outcomes Assessment

New Bern Parks and Recreation uses evaluation results received from activities, programs, facility rentals, special events and public input comments to assess whether or not activities, facilities, programs, and services are achieving the desired outcome. Additionally, the department uses other forms of outcome assessments to determine if participants are meeting the program objectives designated in the New Bern Parks and Recreation Programming Plan. Outcome assessments come in the form of evaluation results, program evaluation reports, and surveys. Results from assessments are used to help staff determine if any adjustments need to be made in activities, facilities, or programs offered. Management staff reviews evaluations and meets with staff to share results, with the goal of overall improvement moving forward.